ABOUT PROGRAM:

Nowadays a huge number of online resources as well as Information & Communication Technology (ICT) tools are available for classroom teaching. When a lesson is delivered with technology, the higher order thinking skills of the students are enhanced, students would be more engaged and would understand the lesson better. When these resources are integrated with classroom teaching, learners experience more benefits on the understanding aspects of a particular lesson. This integration would change the classroom dynamics completely and encourage students to involve themselves. Hence it enhances their analysis and understanding level of the lessons taught by the teachers. The main objective of the incorporation is to improve the knowledge exchange between teacher and students. This program describes the ways and advantages of Flipped Classroom and List of ICT Tools used for Teaching and Learning.
